Bahay Biyaya Hostel is the biggest home for physically handicapped students studying in different colleges and universities in Manila and Quezon City. This refuge was built in 1984 and has not seen any renovations for more than 30 years. As a final project for the students Bahay Biyaya shelters, they decided to launch a renovation project called "Tuloy" for the shelter. They renovated most of the areas and made it even more conducive for studying and living. They made co-working spaces and they repaired other rooms and areas that have been run-down, and damaged over the years. AllHome took part in this project by donating materials and accessories for the shelter. Bahay Biyaya Hostel continues to welcome physically challenged students and house them to give them better access to a better education, and a better future.
